Colorado Creations enhances living space inside and out

BY ROSEMARY FETTER

From a simple deck extension to an elaborate outdoor room or finished basement, the staff at Colorado Creations takes pride in the quality of their work.

“We are a design build group,” said Robin Singer-Starbuck, marketing director. “Only two or three companies in the metro area can do what we do. We handle everything in-house, from electrical and plumbing to all phases of construction. We are licensed remodelers, as well as a design build contractor.”

Colorado Creations offer choices in cabinetry, lighting, flooring, fireplaces, appliances and other integral parts of the project.

Owner/founder Scott Saponski has been a general contractor in the area for more than 25 years, with a strong focus in south Denver metro area.

When building decks, patios and outdoor rooms, the company works closely with landscapers to integrate the indoor and outdoor living experience. Every project has a sales manager and a sales representative, and the client works with the same people to provide continuity and consistent communications.

“Years ago, people just wanted a simple open deck,” said Singer-Starbuck. “Now they want variety, including octagonal and multi-level designs. We try to integrate the indoor and outdoor living experience by providing everything from roof covers to trellises and arbors. Working with a set of ideas, we can create a signature deck, partial or full.”

Singer-Starbuck said that finishing a basement is still the best use of remodeling money.

“The cost is $35 – $65 per square foot, versus the expense of buying a new home, which is $150-$200 per square foot. It's the best financial return," she said. "We understand times are tough, and we've tempered our prices accordingly, but the quality of our work is still the same."

Colorado Creations will be offering two spring promotions, one for basements and one for decks.

Any basement project of more than $30,000 will receive a free wet bar, wine cellar or audio package, valued $5,000.
